Obituary for Hurim Crowder

Hurim Crowder, faithful servant of the Lord, beloved wife, and mother, went to be with her Savior on February 19, 2019. Born in Korea on March 1, 1941, she is a long-time resident of Bristol, Tennessee.

She is survived by her husband, Philip; two daughters, Etosha Hurim Crowder and Elysha Hurim Crowder; granddaughter, Aaiden Jade, sons-in-law, Corey Clark and Lee Frederick, parents-in-law; Daniel and Wreatha Crowder.

She was a special gift to all who knew her. Throughout her life she brought love and happiness, joy and wisdom, forgiveness and compassion. In her was the beauty of life as God intended. She was not without sorrows, knowing too well the tragic losses of loved ones, agonies of war and terminal affliction, but they never conquered her. She never asked why they came to her. She just bore them in patient faith and in her tragedies came to know God and proclaim Him in song and testimony. He had given her a most special gift; the gift of song. This gift she had from birth and as she grew up her fame from her singing naturally spread so that by the 1970's she had become the pre-eminent folk singer in Korea. She made many albums, she received many awards and presentations, and she was much sought after. She became rich and her music is played to this day. Yet, it was dust. When she lost her young son to a heart condition she lost her reason for life and all the accouterments of fame became as ash to her. She turned entirely to the Lord; clinging, as she has testified, to the hem of His robe in faith, in the blackness of her life. God guided her out of the darkness and made her anew. Out of gratitude she dedicated her life to Him and became an evangelist giving testimony and singing of His glory in many lands. She dedicated her voice to him, the magical lyricism of her singing was raised exclusively in His praise and has been so from the day of her salvation to the day of her last going home.

She was, in every way, a wonderful servant of the Lord, and her concerns for the hardships of others was always greater than the pains of her own sufferings. As all who knew her will attest, she was the epitome of the good wife and mother. Her children are blessed. Her husband is blessed.

The world is poorer, much, much poorer for Heaven's gain, and all who knew her are blessed. Goodnight my dear, I so miss holding your hand.
